FOES IN AMBUSH.

THE HIDDEN PERILS OF THE PAST AND PRESENT.

When the Puritan passed through the forests of New England, he realized that his greatest danger was from hidden foes. Therefore, he was armed and vigilant. The enemies a man can see he can fight, but the enemy that skulks in darkness unseen, he is ever so weak, is to be dreaded by reason of his invisibility.

The foes that threaten the life to-day are all ambushed. There is no fear of the "arrow that flieth by day," for the day of the arrow is past and gone. But the "pestilence that walketh in darkness" is still a thing of terror, because it strikes suddenly from ambush.

Let the word pestilence be only whispered and fear grips the heart. Houses are forsaken. People flock to the railroads frantic to escape from the infected city. But shout a warning against dyspepsia and who is alarmed? Nobly. Yet dyspepsia in the diseases to which it tends, is responsible for more deaths annually in the United States than pestilence could probably claim in a decade.

THE WEAK SPOT

of the modern man is his stomach. No man can be stronger than his stomach because the stomach is in effect the vital centre of the body. Where does the heart get its nourishment? From the stomach. Where is the nourishment prepared for lungs, liver, kidneys and other organs? All are nourished from the stomach. Stop putting food into the stomach and in time the heart stops beating. We must eat to live. Everybody knows that. They understand that the man that isn't fed starves. But what they don't seem to understand is that starvation is just as sure when the man is fed, if by reason of disease the stomach cannot convert the food it receives into nutrition for the body and its several organs.

The sign of starvation is emaciation, loss of flesh. That's the sign of dyspepsia and weak stomach also. The dyspeptic eats enough but the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition fail to extract the nourishment from the food and so the body grows lean and the strength of the body is undermined.

DYSPEPSIA AND DEGENERACY.

There is a certain physical degeneracy which results from dyspepsia. If the body is not nourished it grows weak, and as the body is only a general name for the sum of its organs and members, to speak of the body growing weak means that the heart is growing weak, the lungs are growing weak, and that the liver and kidneys and other organs are involved in the same "weakness." When disease of the stomach and its allied organs are cured these dependent weaknesses are cured also.

"For about two years I suffered from a very obstinate case of dyspepsia," writes R. E. Goud, Esq., of 13 Eastern Ave.,

Rockville, visited hope holds the latter part of the week.

Several of our young folks attended the League at Paphusville, Sunday night.

Is Your Life Worth 25 Cents?

Consumptives, we know that you have been disappointed many times, but make one more effort to be cured. Gooch's Mexican Syrup has cured thousands and it will cure you.

Consumption is the result of the food material that should go to support the body and sustain life being absorbed and thrown off in tabescious matter. To overcome this waste of vital force and restore the nourishment to the organism in its natural course, is to cure. This is accomplished by Gooch's Mexican Syrup. It controls coughs, night sweats, splitting of blood, soreness in chest, inflamed throat and lungs, difficulty of breathing, heavy coughs accompanied with expectoration, and parched lips. We know you have been disappointed many times, but make one more effort to save yourself.

You can buy a bottle of Gooch's Mexican Syrup for 25 cents. It cures a simple cough as by magic, and is the best remedy for whooping cough.

EDDIE.

A seasonable atmosphere rises from the various useful and valuable features of the November Delinatior. The styles shown are those for early winter; the dress-making article tells about the making of coats; the fancy needlework article bears upon Thanksgiving and Christmas gifts; the crocheting articles are those of a Winter character; the gardening article deals with the pruning and protection of rose trees throughout winter. Every woman who wishes to get splendid value for her expenditure should buy The Delinatior for itself. It in turn will help to economize in household matters at every point.

The ladies of the First Presbyterian church are going to take a trip around the world, and will start next Tuesday evening, Oct. 29, at 7 p.m. from Dr. Delamater's on Park Avenue, between 5th and 6th streets. They invite all to join them on this trip. It will be a rare opportunity for sight seeing and enjoying a good time with plenty to eat, and the whole expense for the trip will be 25c. You cannot afford to miss it. The principal points visited will be San Francisco, Washington, New York City, Berlin, Constantinople and Tokio. Be sure and go take your friends with you. Trains leave every ten minutes.

New buckwheat flour 5c per lb. at Holloway's.

A Hallowe'en Magazine.

Supersition Trail, a powerful tale of the west, by Owen Wister, and illustrated by Remington, is the opening story in the Hallowe'en number (October 26) of The Saturday Evening Post of Philadelphia. Other attractive features are a new episode in The Love Affairs of Paricia and a striking poem by Holman F. Day. Mr. Day's ballad, The Night of the White Review, tells a weird tale current among Gloucester fishermen. It has all the swing and movement of Mr. Kipling's Dives Chanteys, and a strength and originality all its own.

All Loudermilk, one of the oldest settlers in Rich Hill, will, in a few days, with his excellent family, take his departure for Mountain Grove, down in Wright county, where he will engage in the hotel business. We wish him success and we know he will have it for he is just one of the kindest of men. His good nature, and ready wit which covers a keen insight into the peculiarities of the traveling public will make him popular as a landlord and successful financially in the hotel business. We regret to see him go. He was one among our first acquaintances to Rich Hill and we always liked the man. In fact we naturally have a liking for all good natured generous-hearted, true men, and we always thought All Loudermilk one of them.
